In Memoriam

Mourn them not-
For the souls
Of men are infinite-
There being only one step
From the withering flame
That is life-
Into the cool shadow
That is peace eternal.
Mourn them not-
For the souls of men are infinite.

Administration

H. W. LEACH, principal of Central High; graduate of Ohio Wesleyan University; post-graduate work at Ohio State University; formerly principal of Marietta High School.

R. E. OFFENHAUER, superintendent of Lima City Schools; graduate of Otterbein University; post-graduate work at Columbia; formerly principal of Central High.

C. C. ROMAKER, assistant principal of Central High; graduate of Defiance College; post-graduate work at Ohio State University; formerly head of History Department of Central.

To these three men we wish to express our deepest appreciation for maintaining the high standards in Central.

School Board

We, the students of Central High School, are glad to take this opportunity to express our appreciation to these men, who, representing the city of Lima, have maintained our free public school system. Particularly, since this is the three-hundredth anniversary of the first high school, we students should be especially thankful to this School Board and all Boards of Education for what they have done toward maintaining our high schools of America, than which there are none finer in the world.

We wish to thank each member individually for the services he renders willingly and without pay.

Class of 1935

Senior Class History

VERY soon the Class of 1935 will be leaving this good old school. There are three things which we will carry with us: our diplomas, symbolic of an education; memories of the past four years; and the thought of what is before us. So much has been crowded into four short years that very little of it can be recorded here.

As we look back to the days when we first came to Central, proud, happy, trembling with excitement, wondering what would happen next, we recall many things. We laugh when we think of the teasing remarks the "Sophs" made to bring us to the realization that after all we were only youngsters. Our sophomore days too, are fresh in our minds. It seems but a day or two ago that we ourselves were teasing the "Freshies," sending them to the wrong rooms, keeping them off the front steps, etc. Our junior year stands out as the time when we were the best students, but our senior year was the happiest year of all.

Our first year passed slowly. We struggled along in general science and Latin. We had the most terrible time "skinning" through algebra. English was our only comfort.

Early in the year elections were held and Charles Crosser was made president; Eugene Bessire, vice president; Wilbur Miller, secretary; and Betty Watson, treasurer. Hilda Winemiller and Robert Light were elected to represent the Freshmen in the Student Council. At last the long awaited vacation arrived and with many sighs of relief at being "Freshies" no longer, we packed our books away, forgot school, and proceeded to have a good time. Miss Ruth Reed, as advisor, capably guided us in that happy year.

Those of us who returned in September were a decided improvement on the tired little "Freshies" who had left. Some of us had added many inches to our height. We had lost our babyish looks and ways. Mirrors began to appear in the girls' lockers and the boys began to "slick up." We now had the traditional assurance of "Sophs." We learned to dance, joined clubs, developed our dramatic talent, and studied just a little harder. The honor roll claimed some thirty-five Sophomores. In the class election, Charles Crosser was chosen president: Dorothy Krueger, vice president; Robert Light, secretary; and Don Paul, treasurer. Hilda Winemiller, Robert Snyder, Don Wright, and Joe Dunlap were placed on the Council. Bob Atkinson was made a cheerleader. Miss Gayle Howey lent her support in making our second year at Central successful.

One short year later we awakened to the fact that we were upperclassmen. This was the year that we began to stay around school till about four o'clock, to show our interest in school affairs and athletics. Charles Crosser again received the honor of being president; Bob Snyder, vice president; Robert Light, secretary; and Don Paul, treasurer. Those selected for the Student Council were Hilda Winemiller, Helen Armstrong, Don Wright, Don Hensler, Bill Mereness, Dorothy Krueger. "It Won't Be Long Now," the Junior Class Play, was presented by a cast consisting of Bill Mereness, Robert Light, Helen Armstrong, Harriet Solomon, Bob Atkinson, Helen Smith, Dick Gantz, David Schnitzer, Jack Schoonover, Frances Ann Harvey, Bob Burns, John Bessire, and Eugene Bessire.

Cheerleaders elected from our class were Bob Light, Bob Atkinson, and Ned Clarkson.

Toward the end of the year we gave the big party of the season, the Junior-Senior Prom under the supervision of Miss Myvanwy Jones, which proved a huge success. When the year ended, we Juniors began to realize that our happy days in high school were nearing a close.

Our last vacation days slipped quickly by, and suddenly we found ourselves enhanced with all the glory and splendor of Seniors. The dignity which we had so long admired and coveted was at last ours and we strutted up and down the halls with manners befitting our exalted state. For this all-important year, Charles Crosser was elected president; Bob Snyder, vice president; Paul Rockey, secretary; Bob Light, treasurer. Don Hensler, Don Wright, Helen Armstrong, Hilda Wineminner, Joe Dunlap, Bill Mereness, Dorothy Krueger, and Doris Rohn represented the Seniors in the Student Council.

With the help of Miss Grace McClurg, our gracious supervisor, Charles Crosser appointed the following committees: Memorial—Frances Repp, Bill Gorin, Darwin O'Connell, Jean Steiner, Don Paul,; Graduating Clothes—Virginia Price, Sanford Arnold, Carolyn Means, Richard Roeder; Announcements—Dorothy Krueger, Paul Rockey, Helen Miller, Elaine Custer, Joe Dunlap; Party—Helen Armstrong; Hall and Decoration—Gordon Starost, Bob Tait, Marion Rutter, David Horine; Dinner and Table Plan—Sewelda Vossler, Yuthud Langsdale, Betty Arnold, Virginia Hudnet; Reservations—Frances Harvey, Richard Kahler, John Bessire, Betty Latson; Yearbook—Don Wright, Bonnie Roeder, John Bessire, Bob Snyder, Marian Willower, Harriet Solomon; Senior Class Play—Bill Mereness, Bob Burns, Elizabeth Hogue, Helen Armstrong, Helen Smith.

Athletics have played a most important part in the history of our class, Football lettermen were Don Paul, Gilbert Lewis, Bob Snyder, Tom Sawyer, Bob Solomon, Randall Clark.

Those receiving letters for basketball were Don Paul, Tom Sawyer, Gilbert Lewis, Harold Oen, Owen Grouver, Don Creviston, Wilbur Miller.

The students interested in debate were Bill Mereness, Carolyn Means, and Frances Ann Harvey.

Many Seniors have held positions on the Mirror Staffs throughout their high school careers. Members of the weekly staff were Lloyd Whittington, Ed DeGarmo, Joe Dunlap, Helen Smith, Carolyn Means, Mary Knipe, Paul Rockey, David Schnitzer, Phyllis Driver, Don Taflinger, Bill Mereness, Bonnie Roeder, Marian Willower, Dorothy Krueger, and Elaine Custer. On the past Annual staffs have been Fern Bernstein, Frances Ann Harvey, Carolyn Means, Bill Mereness, Marian Willower, and Bob Snook.

Dramatics and music too, have occupied a great place in the activities of the Class of ''35. Robert Light, Frances Ann Harvey, Harriet Solomon, Helen Smith, Helen Armstrong, Bill Mereness, Charles Crosser, and Eugene Bessire have been prominent in various stage productions throughout school life.

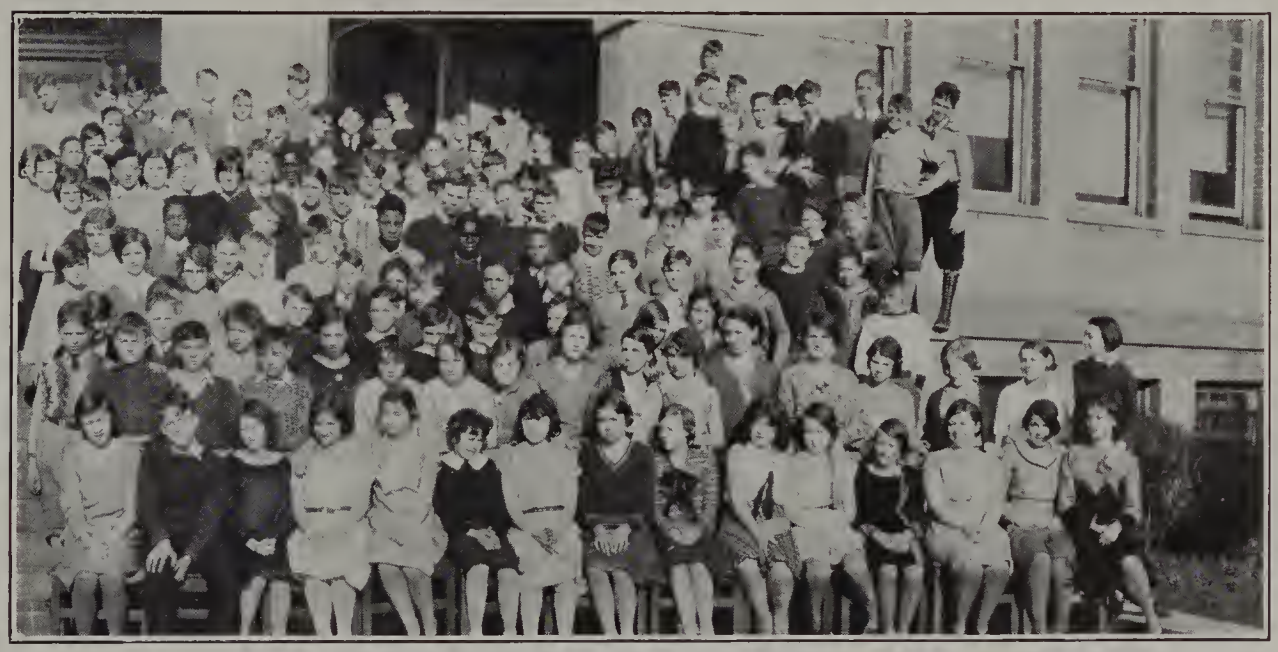
Carol Harpster, Carolyn Means, Helen Smith, Don Taflinger, and Bob Light have excelled in musical productions.

An extraordinarily large number of students from the Class of '35 have been on the Honor Roll many times. They are Dorothy Ashba, Charles Crosser, Elizabeth Hogue, Esther Wildermuth, Don Hensler, Richard Kahler, Don Paul, Richard Roeder, Bob Snyder, Sewelda Vossler, Helen Smith, Hilda Winemiller, Don Wright, Elaine Custer, David Horine, Gertrude Gisler, Jean Steiner, Jessalyn Snyder, Carolyn Means, Virginia Price, Mary Ann Merritt, Doris Rohn, Marian Willower, Bill Mereness, Dorothy Krueger, Eugene Scullin, Esther Reynolds, Helen Miller, Ed DeGarmo, Darwin O'Connell, Fern Bernstein, and Jeanne Miller.

Twenty Seniors were chosen to take the annual State Test. Seventy-three pupils from this district participated and Central won fourteen out of the first nineteen places. The fourteen students were: Don Wright, Ed DeGarmo, Robert Snyder, Richard Roeder, Charles Crosser, Richard Kahler, Don Hensler, Frances Ann Harvey, Bill Mereness, David Horine, Helen Miller, Hilda Winemiller, Elaine Custer, Elizabeth Hogue. Carolyn Means, Mary Anne Merritt, Gertrude Gisler, Doris Rohn, Bob Light, and Don Kesler also took the test.

The four years of "living, laughing, loving, and learning," are at an end, but our experiences and pleasures at Central will always be remembered. May we, the Class of 1935 as we go forth into the school of life, continue to conquer and profit by all the obstacles which come into our paths and may we always find friends as kind, and associates as pleasant, as those which have existed throughout out career at Central.

—HELEN SMITH.



Class of '35 in 1930

The camera clicked at the psychological moment on an innocent group of unsuspecting eighth graders. Little did they dream that five years hence the same identical atrocity would be resurrected and used as evidence—. My, how they do change!

Junior High History

At the beginning of this school term, several hundred students passed from the portals of seventh grade to the stately gates of their eighth year class. Guided by the capable hand of Miss Edna McPheron, their supervisor, the group elected as their president, Patty Skinner; vice president, Junior Patton; secretary, Marjorie Le Valley; treasurer, Bob Crites. Junior Stimmel was chosen as their Student Council representative. Scarlet and gray were selected as their class colors, which we hope they shall carry to triumph.

In the seventh grade, class officers were elected consisting of Robert Brentlinger as president; Dorothy Becker, vice president; Anita Barber, secretary; Mark Kolter, Jr., treasurer, and Tom Evans as their contribution to that stately body, the Student Council. Miss Ruth Kephart was their class supervisor. Blue and white were their class colors.

The main event of all events in the life of a young "Junior Higher" is the annual Junior High Operetta. This year "Sunny of Sunnyside" was presented under the direction of Miss Jeannette Stuart, both classes having a large representation in this production. Main characters in the operetta were portrayed by Ruth Mary Whitney, Ann Mericle, Jack Mueller, Joe Cox, Joe Sells, George Miller, Marjorie Le Valley, Carolyn Valentine, Betty Davies, Joan Bowman, Martha Jones, Betty Wilson, Annette Rakowsky, Don Williams, Warren Jacobs, Junior Stimmel, Betty Collins, Raymond Peterson, Patty Skinner, Charles Kelly, Ralph Tinianow, Moreau Schneider, Mary Jane Sullivan.

The various clubs in which members of Junior High may participate are: Debate, under the supervision of Mr. Slater; Girls' Glee Club, Mr. Evans; Industrial Arts, Mr. Lowman; Social Dancing, Miss McRitchie; and the Thespian Dramatic Club, Miss Lutz and Miss Lippincott. The Junior Hi-Y faculty advisor was Mr. Steiner. The seventh and eighth grades were very much interested in clubs and extra-curricular activities and we hope they will continue to be.

In the early part of the year the eighth graders gave a party in the Senior High gym. Not to be outdone, the seventh graders also had their celebration in the same manner. The Junior High basketball team enjoyed a very successful season; playing eight games, of which they won six, dropping two to Findlay Glenwood. Three Junior High Nights were held and attended by unusually large crowds.

The following boys received their "J's": Don David, Bob Graham, Paul Radulovich, Joe Pholen, Robert Harrod, Reed Blackburn, Bill McClellan, Dick Monbeck, William Stiles, and Fred Hindman. George Miller and Lloyd Fessler received manager's letters.

A full program of intramural athletics was carried out. Home Room 356 won the championship of Junior High in volleyball, while the Pannywaisters, captained by Fred Oen, took similar honors in intramural basketball. Shuffleboard and foul shooting contests wound up the noon program.

The Junior High graders have our hearty congratulations on their splendid work this year and best wishes for advancement in their school years to come, in both the realms of education and culture.

Activities

Senate

THE Senate Club imitated Congress at work. Central student Congressmen representing separate states in the union met each Wednesday to discuss local, state, and national problems of current importance. The clerk brought the room to order and called the roll. A current problem was brought up and discussed. If an act or question infringed upon the right of a state, the representative student defended that state's right and a heated debate ensued. Some problems discussed were the state sales tax, World Court, the New Deal, and the N. R. A., parochial school aid, a larger army and navy, the safety of dirigibles, government control of industry and of munitions in wartime, and national education.

The Senate, one of the oldest clubs at Central, was organized to promote public speaking and debating.

The officers of the first session were Paul Kies, president; Leonard Fishel, president pro-tem; Emil Bocok, treasurer; Bill Gorin, clerk; Raymond Fett, sergeant-at-arms. Those of the second session were Bill Gorin, president; Paul Kies, president pro-tem; Maurice Amspaugh, clerk; Bob Berger, treasurer; and Raymond Fett, sergeant-at-arms. John Riker was faculty supervisor.

Library Club

The Library Club afforded an opportunity to those interested in library work as a career. The aim of this organization is to give a distinctive service to Central and to give its members practical library experience.

Members were on duty aiding the librarian from three to five hours during the week. During the club periods, Miss Drusilla Reilly, faculty supervisor and school librarian taught these students the fundamentals of library work including desk work, the charging, discharging, binding, mending, and the American system of shelving books, checking attendance, and all other library problems which might confront them. Members handled the circulation of books.

Camera Club

Since its organization in 1927 by M. C. Cahill, the Camera Club has steadily progressed. It helps prepare those interested in photography by studying the technique of all its phases. Stills or table top pictures, portables, and scenics are taken. The films are developed, finished, and printed by members. Weather conditions and lighting effects are studied in order to better portraits and stills; artistic principles, to better scenics. Commercial photo shops are visited for practical instruction. During technical meetings, instruction is given for use of the proper printing paper and other advancements in finishing.

During the first meetings the camera was studied, careful attention being given to the lens. The spring meetings gave excellent opportunity for field excursions during which pictures were taken.

The officers were: Harry Negelsbach, president; Joe Dunlap, vice president; Lloyd Whittington, secretary and treasurer. The faculty supervisor was E. L. Huber.

Commercial Club

The purpose of the Commercial Club is to bring its members in closer contact with business people and the conditions of the modern business world. Those enrolled in Central and taking a commercial subject are eligible for membership.

Under the faculty supervision of C. R. DeLong, the club had a variable but balanced program. During the year mock trials on commercial law, selling skits, and commercial plays were presented. Contests were held in shorthand, typing, commercial arithmetic, and business spelling. Business men discussed business topics and demonstrated the use of office equipment. Banks and manufacturing corporations were visited for practical intruction. The social programs included parties, a dance, and an annual party at C. R. DeLong's cottage at Indian Lake at the close of the year.

The officers included Stanley Redick, president; Pauline Koch, vice president; Virginia Price, secretary and treasurer; Dick Gantz, press correspondent; and Gerald Scheuffler, sergeant-at-arms.

Foreign Correspondence

Organized in 1933 by a body of interested students and Miss Grace Tressel, faculty supervisor, the Foreign Correspondence Club has since steadily gained recognition.

Letters were written and received from correspondents in Canada, France, Spain, Portugal, Switzerland, Norway, Sweden, Germany, Italy, Russia, Belgium, the Netherlands, Egypt, Tunis, Morocco and countries in Asia and South America. Customs, dress, habits, and individual problems of the represented countries were discussed. Letters were read during meetings and those written in foreign languages were translated by the supervisor.

During several meetings, pictures were shown of interesting places in Europe which were described by Miss Tressel from data compiled on her trip. The Chateau d'If, prison in France from which originated the story of the Court of Monte Cristo, and the high-spots of France, England, Italy, Germany, and Spain were extensively described.

The officers were Elaine Custer, president; Rosemary Landis, vice president; Margaret Schnabel, secretary; and Oliver Smith, treasurer.

Girls Welfare Club

The Girls' Welfare Club was organized last year by Miss Gertrude Marshall for girls interested in welfare work. The club was formerly known as the Girls' Citizenship Club. Most of the girls are members of the Home Economics class and are interested in social problems of school and community. This year's supervisor is Miss Phyllis Mendenhall.

During every other meeting, members made dresses for forty-five relief students at Whittier. Outside welfare work was administered such as several Christmas baskets being given to needy families.

Discussions were held at other meetings under Miss Mae Pieffer, and Miss Verla Sutton of the Juvenile Court, on problems of correction. Members decided a county juvenile case.

Committee of research, chairman Betty Hudnut; calander, chairman, Jeannette Jones; committee for delivering, chairman, Helen Mayard; and membership committee, chairman, Edna Johnson, were appointed.

The officers were Leona Staup, president; Jane Beeler, vice president; Dorothy Briggs, secretary; and Betty Hudnet, treasurer.

Hi-Y

THE purpose of the Hi-Y Clubs and the ideal of their members is "To create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community, high standards of Christian living." As proof of the success of the club, it offers Central—leaders in the major activities; a medium for strengthening relations with our fellow schools; inspiration and aid in the major problems of life, and trustworthy men of high ideals. For these things, and many more, the Hi-Y is an organization indispensable in student life. The officers of the Senior Hi-Y were Bill Mereness, Ed De Garmo, Don Wright, Don Hensler, and Scott Barnhardt. The Junior Hi-Y officers were Bob Williams, Bob Mereness, Don Wilson, and Franklin Frobase. Ray Overmire, Robert Neiswander, and Russel Slater cooperated with the members to make this a very successful year.

—BILL MERENESS

Blue Triangle

THE Blue Triangle Club of Central held the interest of its members by a varied program designed to clarify the development and activities of the more useful life and to set up higher standards for thought, purpose, and deed. The 1934-1935 program included supervised discussions of etiquette, Girl Reserve ring requirements, the ideal girl and boy, and numerous other subjects.

By popular vote, the Blue Triangle divided into junior and senior groups, each selecting its own officers. The following persons officiated in the senior club: Hilda Winemiller, president; Ernestine Molden, vice president; Marie Helmer, secretary; Carol Harpster, treasurer. Officers of the junior club were Jean Snodgrass, president; Jeanne Latson, vice president; Rosemary Landis, secretary; Emma Jane Hires, treasurer.

Weekly Mirror

FORTY years ago in this high school an institution was born, dedicated to the purpose of reflecting the lives and activities of the student body.

Today, nearly half a century later, that institution still lives and still upholds its purpose. It has grown in size, increased in perfection, withstood depressions, overcome obstacles, and is now an established tradition—our "Mirror."

"The Mirror," edited and published by the journalism class of Central, has endeavored this year to maintain its usual standards.

The office of editor-in-chief was held by Ed De Garmo, who was aided by associate editors Betty Freshwater and Bob Light. Lloyd Whittington filled the position of business manager. Richard Reid, Virginia Basinger, and Carlton Asher served respectively as advertising manager. literary editor, and sport editor.

In view of unfavorable financial conditions and uncertainty regarding the length of the school term, the faculty advisors at the beginning of the year decided to suspend publication of the Annual Mirror.

However, when towards the end of the year it became apparent to a few students that a full term was certain and that the need and desire of the senior class for a yearbook outweighed other obstacles, the cooperation of the faculty advisors, Miss Jamison, Mr. Heffner, Miss Riggs, Mr. Huber, and Mr. Hauenstein, was secured and work on a senior yearbook commenced immediately.

The planning of the book was given over to Frances Ann Harvey as editor-in-chief. She was assisted by a staff composed of the following: Marshall Rodgers, Earl Montague, Joe Dunlap, Helen Smith, Sewelda Vossler, Ed De Garmo, Bob Snook, Jack Schoonover, Jean Steiner, Virginia Pifer, Margery Leach, Don Roberson, Jack Dinsmore, Dorothy Krueger, Bill Mereness, Phyllis Driver, Carolyn Means, Paul Rockey, Lloyd Whittington, Bill McGriff, Carlton Mead, Rosemary Cashman, Wilma Zimmer, Harry Negelsbach, Dick Kahler, Fern Bernstein, Ann Applas, Scott Barnhardt, Hilda Winemiller, Doris Rohn, and Philip Pifer.

Quill and Scroll

Occasionally in Central one sees a person wearing a small gold badge in the shape of a scroll bearing a quill and the initials, "I. H. S. H. S. J." This is the emblem of the Quill and Scroll society, an International Honorary Society for High School Journalists, which signifies that the wearer has entered his junior year, has earned a certain number of points through at least two years of work on either of the publication staffs, and has been accepted by local and national boards.

Nine new members were taken into the Quill and Scroll this year. They are Frances Harvey, Helen Smith, Marshall Rodgers, Bill Mereness, Betty Freshwater, Bob Light, Ed De Garmo, Carlton Asher, and Helene Stonehill. Lloyd Whittington was the only member remaining from last year.

Student Council

CENTRAL'S Student Council is one of the finest organizations of its kind in the state. Its year is crammed with activity, for behold the imposing list of its achievements: honor study halls, courtesy monitors, hall and street patrol, class elections, bulletin boards, clubs, assemblies, lost and found exchange, welcoming new students, all student social events, and, in cooperation with "The Mirror," Who's Who and Maidens' Chance Week.

The officers of the Council were Don Wright, chairman; Don Hensler, chairman pro-tem; and Dorothy Krueger, secretary. The membership of the organization was made up of eight Seniors, six Juniors, four Sophomores, two Freshmen, and one Eighth and one Seventh grader.

Perhaps the busiest of its committees was the social committee which had charge of class parties, school dances, and all other social functions. Helen Armstrong, Bob Rohn, Joe Dunlap, Jack Rapp, and Nelda Fowler comprised its membership. The committee is to be congratulated on its fine work, both as to finance and entertainment.

We were all familiar with the courtesy monitors who were on duty every period. Helen Armstrong and Richard Creviston were responsible for their regular appearance.

Another important committee was the one in charge of honor study halls—Don Hensler, Shirley Kinzer, Dorothy Krueger, Doris Rohn, Bob Mereness, and Joe Dunlap. The honor study hall is a Council dream, materialized as few dreams are.

Outside, the street patrol forces us to protect our lives; inside, the hall patrol sees that we protect the lives of others. The Council committees in charge were street patrol—Don Roberson and Bob Offenhauer; hall patrol—Hilda Winemiller and Doris Rohn. We are indebted to the individual members of each group for their sacrificing work throughout the year.

A large part of Central activities is filled by the weekly club meetings. The important work of chartering and supervising these clubs was intrusted to the council committee consisting of Bill Mereness and Bob Williams.

Those in charge of the assemblies throughout the year were chosen by Dorothy Krueger and Nelda Fowler. Both the "choosers" and the "chosen" proved themselves more than capable of carrying out their duties.

The temporary committees which solved the problems of class elections, Who's Who, and Maidens' Chance Week are to be complimented upon their work.

The faculty, as usual, thoroughly cooperated with the Council whenever called upon. J. G. Crites, Council advisor, was tireless in his work of supervising all Council activities. Other faculty members were active in assisting various committees.

Music

DURING the past year, the music department of Central High School, under the direction of Mark Evans, demonstrated its ability to be both useful and entertaining.

The Senior Orchestra was composed of thirty-three students, many of whom were former members of the Junior Orchestra. Lowell Moore, who was chosen president, presided at the tri-weekly meetings. Although the orchestra furnished entertainment for many school activities, it participated in no outside events.

The Senior Band, composed of forty-four musicians, added a spirited touch to the athletic contests of the year. Attired in their new uniforms and led by a brilliant drum major, they inaugurated a new parade formation. Acting drum majors were Roy Brury, Arthur McWilliams, and Bonnie Roeder. Eugene Stoner officiated as president. The cooperation of the student body in supporting band benefit performances made the uniforms possible.

The seventy girls who comprised the Girls' Glee Club organized to promote higher ideals in music appreciation. Carol Harpster, acting as president, supervised the weekly meetings. A change was made in the state's method of rating high schools as to music, and Findlay was left as the only other high school in this district. Therefore, outside competition was limited and no eisteddfod was held.

The Boys' Glee Club, although fewer in number than the girls' organization, can boast of as much progress. Don Taflinger was president of the club. Bill Sells, Eugene Stoner, John Walters, and Don Taflinger comprised the male quartet which was a welcome addition to many programs.

The Chorus is a general combination of all the Senior High vocal organizations. This group met three times weekly under the direction of Mr. Evans, who is noted for his excellent work. From the chorus were chosen, by qualification, the cast of the operetta and the chorus for the Minstrel.

The second annual Minstrel Show was presented on February 3 before a large audience. An even greater amount of talent produced a show which surpassed the great success of the previous year. Nineteen acts, including vocal choruses, dancing choruses, solo singing, solo dancing, monologues, and general fun-making, comprised the show. Much of the success of the Minstrel may be attributed to the able direction of Mr. Evans and the activity of E. A. Hauenstein as interlocuter.

For many years it has been the practice at Central to present annually "The Follies." In 1935 exception was made to this policy and in its place, an operetta, "The Gypsy Rover," was presented by the chorus.

The plot involved Rob, an English nobleman, who was stolen in infancy by a gypsy band, and his sweetheart, Lady Constance. Eugene Stoner, tenor, portrayed the dashing, romantic Rob, and Carol Harpster played the part of Lady Constance.

The presentation of "The Gypsy Rover" was a definite advance in the appreciation and understanding of good music in Central High School.

6. Drum Major: Arthur McWilliams.

Athletics

IN Central athletics this year, the coaches, managers, cheerleaders, advisors, and the athletes themselves, attained a high standard of perfection. Coaches C. C. Steward and H. W. Scheuerman led their respective football and basketball teams to new honors, while Coaches Ronald Dotson and Floyd Overholser piled up commendable track and reserve football records. We must not forget that amiable good fellow, Mr. Hauenstein, who so nobly shouldered his share of the responsibilities.

Mildred Tam and Bob Mereness led the cheerleaders in their frequent maneuvers, and Jean Morley, Bob Atkinson, Ned Clarkson, and Virginia Fenton were, of course, always ready to lend a helping hand.

Managers who received letters for their work in football and basketball, in their respective order, were Richard Meyers and Donald Creviston.

In football the boys won the South-Central game in spite of the loss of a few teeth and a few extra pounds. They also won three games and tied one out of the nine played. Those receiving letters were Don Paul, captain; Bus Moor, Tom Sawyer, Bob Rohn, Bob Solomon, Joe Petree, Craig Pursley, Wayne Roney, Bob Offenhauer, Everett Whitney, Adrian Masterpole, Gilbert Lewis, Harry McDonald, Bob Snyder, David Horine, Bob Montgomery, Bill Merritt, Bill Bradley, Eugene Stoner, and Randall Clark.

Gilbert Lewis, captain; Don Paul, Owen Grouver, Bus Moor, Tom Sawyer, Harold Oen, Wilbur Miller, and Gail Thompson, the boys who "took us to state" this year, received letters in basketball. These boys won thirteen out of the nineteen scheduled games and got to the second round at state.

Baseball men who bolstered Coach Steward's clubbers this year were as follows: John Griffo, Bus Moor, Don Paul, Adrain Masterpole, Gilbert Lewis, "Wimpy" Solomon, Gail Thompson, Randall Clark, Wayne Roney, Warren Miller, and Bob Baker. For this year's track opus, Charles Crosser, Bob Hollenbacher, Charles Heman, Richard Miller, Ernest Hartman, Bob Montgomery, and Gerald Young returned for active duty.

The program of girls' athletics included volleyball, tennis, shuffleboard, and basketball, and was capably directed by Miss Lyda Buchanan and Miss Alice McRitchie. The G. A. A. flourished under the supervision of the aforementioned instructors. Officers of the club were Doris Rohn, president; Helene Stonehill, vice president; Mary Jane Bigelow, treasurer; and Ecodale Ward, secretary.

Sponsored by Mr. Hauenstein and the coaches, the "C" Association of Central has for the past year, and for two decades, encouraged good sportsmanship and clean sports. More power to a stellar organization that will undoubtedly live as long as Central stands! The Association was under the direction of Don Paul, president; Bus Moor, vice president; Bob Rohn, secretary; and Gilbert Lewis, treasurer.

Debate

CENTRAL had one of its most successful debate seasons this year, winning, for the third successive time, first place in the league district. Membership in the Ohio State Debating League has been maintained for the last eight years by the school. The question for debate this year was "Resolved, that the federal government should adopt the policy of equalizing educational opportunities throughout the nation by means of annual grants to the several states for public elementary and secondary education."

The schedule was as follows January 4, the negative team at Bluffton; January 11, the negative team at Clyde; and Columbus Grove here, March 4. On March 11, the affirmative team met Fremont's team there, and on March 18, Bluffton's team here.

As a result of winning all of the scheduled debates, Central received first place in the district. In the first elimination debate Central's negative team was defeated by Wooster's affirmative team at Heidelberg College, Tiffin, Ohio, on March 28. Wooster's affirmative team later became the state champions.

The affirmative team was composed of the following: Coy Pepple, Carolyn R. Means, and Bill Mereness. The negative team consisted of Frances Ann Harvey, Marshall Rodgers, and Don Roberson. Rodgers also substituted as first speaker of the affirmative team.

The second team, or alternate squad, consisted of—affirmative, Dorothy Byerly, Florence Delaney, and Robert Berger; the negative, Phillip Kessler, Jack Dinsmore, and Leon Claassen.

An extra activity of the debate teams this year was their participation in the tournament held at Heidelberg College, March 29. Frances Harvey, Marshall Rodgers, Coy Pepple, and Carolyn Means, Central's representatives, won first place among the forty-two schools participating, by winning all of their ten debates scheduled at that time. As recognition, a scholarship was presented to the senior members of the teams and a silver plaque was presented to all the members.

The faculty committee which so ably coached the debate squads consisted of Stanley C. Boylan, chairman; Mrs. Gwen Jones Pence, and Miss Gayle Howey.

Dramatics

FROM earliest times mankind has instructed and amused itself through dramatics. Its influence is seen never more than today. The spectators of a drama are so carried by it that deep impressions are made upon them. Further than this the actors themselves gain poise, fluency, and understanding of human nature not to be obtained otherwise.

Realizing this influence, educators at Central have provided ample opportunities for student participation in the highest type of high school dramatics. To this end Central has two excellent dramatic societies, the Masquerader and the Troubadourian, and the traditional Junior and Senior class plays. In each of the clubs bi-weekly one-act plays were presented, thus giving every member opportunity to display his histrionic ability. In addition to this each club presented before the school an annual three-act play. Although either club is accessible through tryouts to any student, the Masquerader is considered the younger society and the Troubadourian, the more advanced organization.

For the past several years it has been customary for the Troubadours to present, as their annual play, a thrilling mystery. This year they added comedy to their detective play, achieving a laughing success in "Riddle Me This." The murder was committed before the audience in the first scene. Throughout the remainder of the play we saw Detective Captain McKinley and Kirk, of the press (Charles Crosser and Philip Kessler) disagree on various solutions. Dr. Tindal (Bill Mereness) as the wily murderer, tried to throw them off the track. Others in the cast were Don Roberson, Carlton Asher, Bob Burns, Bob Light, John Charles Crites, Dick Reid. Mary Jane Gregg, Jeannette Jones, Nelda Fowler, Helen Armstrong, Ann Applas. Mrs. Jessie Rhonemus expertly directed the play and the club. The officers of the club were Bill Mereness, president; Jean Steiner, vice president; Dorothy Krueger, treasurer; Marshall Rodgers, secretary.

As the high spot in their year the Masqueraders presented Booth Tarkington's "Seventeen." Reminiscence of poor Willy's (Leon Claassen) futile conquest of Lola Lane, the "Baby Talk Lady" (Catherine Knisely) still brings smiles to our lips. Ably supporting them were Bob Williams. Margaret Dempsey, Patterson Pepple, Eugene Querry, Julius Solomon, Warren Daugherty, Bob Mereness, Strouse Campbell, Patricia Snovel, Dorothy Kershaw, Dorothy Rapp, Miss Jeannette Stuart excellently performed the task of supporting the club and the play. The officers were Bob Mereness, president; Dorothy Rapp, vice president; Julius Solomon, secretary; and Leon Claassen, treasurer.

The Junior Class presented as its annual play a farce, "The Whole Town's Laughing"—and it was. It laughed even more when Mrs. Moore informed her son that instead of being a wealthy nobleman, he was being supported by his Irish uncle's Hawaiian dancing chorus. The credit for directing goes to Mrs. Rhonemus. The members of the cast were Helene Stonehill, Jeanne Fiedler, Coy Pepple, Marge Doan, Margaret Collins, Helen Hossellman, Don Roberson, Carlton Asher, Tom Gregg, Marshall Rodgers, Bill McGriff, and Philip Kessler.

No one realized how difficult it is to tell "Nothing But the Truth" for one day until the Senior class play was presented. "Nothing But the Truth," a three-act comedy, dealt with the attempt of Bob Bennett to tell the literal truth, in order to win a $10,000 bet. The Seniors who ably enacted this play, under Mrs. Rhonemus' direction, were Jack Schoonover, Elizabeth Hogue, Helen Armstrong, Dorothy Ashba, Helen Smith, Bob Light, Carolyn Means, Paul Rockey, Yuthud Langsdale, Ed De Garmo, and Charles Crosser.
